Dear Ed:

Please excuse this hurried note, but I'm an hour late and a dollar short, as usual.

Thanks for the subs; I appreciate them, and I've made an effort at reading your friend's writing. Heavens!

Man, you have been mixin' & minglin', haven't you? Martin L. King! Does your senator know about this? And that trip South?

Last October I was in Boston at the invitation of Dr. Chalmers and intended looking you up. As it happened, Dr. Chalmers was taken ill and was in the hospital and I went out there instead of to the school. What with getting lost on that surface subway, and having a train to catch at 3pm for Providence, I didn't see anyone except Dr. Chalmers.

Even missed an invitation to lunch with Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. and Frank Friedel at Harvard, not that I cared about them, but a FREE lunch!

Anyway, when you're in these parts, come by to see me.

Regards,
